Don't worry about memorising all the note names at once. Try just learning the notes in sections ie. up to the fifth fret, or along the 4th string.

Try also choosing a note for example E, then finding all the places on the neck where the note occurs.

It would be helpful if you could first of all memorise the note names along the 5th and 6th strings first, as these give you the root notes of the most commonly used barre and power chords.
